Re Item III

Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability Present claims 1 - 18 relate to an extremely large number of possible compounds. Support within the meaning of Article 6 PCT and/or disclosure within the meaning of Article 5 PCT is to be found, however for only a small proportion of the compounds claimed. In the present case, the claims so lack support, and the application so lacks disclosure, that a meaningful search over the whole of the claimed scope is impossible. Consequently, the search has been carried out for those parts of the claims which appear to be supported and disclosed, namely those parts relating to the compounds according to the general formula (I) in which the residue R₁-Y- represents a 3,5-difluorobenzyl group. Consequently, a complete written opinion concerning the present application is limited to those parts of the claims for which a complete international search report was established (Rule 43bis.1(b) with reference to Rule 66.1(e) PCT).

It should in particular be understood that any positive statement as to novelty and/or inventive step exclusively relates to said limited subject-matter.

Claims 9 - 11 relate to subject-matter considered by this Authority to be covered by the provisions of Rule 67.1(iv) PCT. Consequently, no opinion will be formulated with respect to the industrial applicability of the subject-matter of these claims (Article 34(4)(a)(I) PCT).

Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

Reference is made to the following documents:

D1: WO 03/029169 A (ELAN PHARMACEUTICALS), 10 April 2003 D2: WO 03/006013 A (ELAN PHARMACEUTICALS), 23 January 2003

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY REPORT ON PATENTABILITY (SEPARATE SHEET)

PCT/US2004/036418

1. Novelty

- 1.1 The present application does not meet the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claims 14 16 is not new in the sense of Article 33(2) PCT. The document D1 (see D1, page 82, line 8 page 83, line 23) discloses already the preparation of intermediates disclosed in claims 14 16.
- 1.2 The compounds disclosed in to claim 1 and claim 13 (intermediates) are not disclosed in the available prior art. The subject-matter of claims 1 13, 17 and 18 is considered as being novel with respect to the prior art.

2. Inventive Step

2.1 The present application does not meet the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claims 14 - 16 does not involve an inventive step in the sense of Article 33(3) PCT.

The subject-matter of claims 14 - 16 is not novel. Consequently, it cannot involve an inventive step either.

2.2 The subject-matter of claims 1 - 13, 17 and 18 does meet the criteria of Article 33(3) PCT.

In view of the documents D1 and D2, which can both be regarded as representing the closest prior art, the problem underlying the present application can be defined as providing further compounds with beta-secretase inhibiting activity, which are useful in the treatment of Alzheimer's disease and related diseases. To solve the problem the Applicant provides the compounds of the present application, which differ at least in two structural features from the most relevant prior art compounds described in the documents D1 and D2. The provision of the compounds according to claim 1 of the present application as further beta-secretase inhibitors is thus not obvious with regard to the prior art. Consequently, the provision of the compounds of claim 1, their preparation (claim 12) and the intermediates disclosed in claim 13 involve an inventive step.

3. Industrial Applicability

- 3.1 The subject-matter of claims 1 8 and 12 to 13 is industrial applicable.
- 3.2 For the assessment of the present claims 9 11 on the question whether they are industrially applicable, no unified criteria exist in the PCT Contracting States. The patentability can also be dependent upon the formulation of the claims. The EPO, for example, does not recognize as industrially applicable the subject-matter of claims to the use of a compound in medical treatment, but may allow, however, claims to a known compound for first use in medical treatment and the use of such a compound for the manufacture of a medicament for a new medical treatment.
